Continue Rally

Upwards of 2,000 persons attended the meetings and festivities which marked the opening of the 30th biennial convention of the Union and League of Rumanian Societies of America here Sunday and Monday.

The principal days of the convention are over. The meetings, however, will continue the rest of the week, with a delegates' dance scheduled for Thursday in Leul hall.

Queen Is Chosen

Leul hall was the scene of a delegates' banquet Sunday afternoon, attended by close to 700 persons. A theatrical program in the Salem High school auditorium Sunday evening was climaxed by the crowning of Miss Eleanor Preda, 16, of Pontiac, Mich., as "Queen of the Union and League."

Miss Preda, representing the society, "Municipal Roman," of Pontiac, was chosen by three judges from a group of eight contestants.

Miss Margaret Farcus of the Salem society "Leul" was among the contestants. Other participants included Virginia Zaharie of Detroit,
Olivia Ghindea of Dearborn, Mich.,
Mary Radu of Akron, Virginia Trombitas of Alliance, Elena
Sucu of Youngstown and Amelia Nicodin of Niles.

Rev. George Branutiu of Chicago, principal speaker at the delegates' banquet Sunday, lauded officers and members of the Salem Rumanian society for their hospitality and told everyone present that "We must thank God for the privilege of living in such a great country."

He drew a parallel with Europe, where, he said, "the Nazis are taking food from the mouths of the Rumanians, even babies." Rev. Branutiu expressed the hope that the Germans would be punished for their actions. "We must be reminded here that we are living in a country blessed by God," he said.

Speeches were heard from the various national delegates, several of whom attacked the oppression of the Rumanians in Europe by Hitler's men.

Val Moga, president of the convention committee, presided at most of the meetings.

Moise Cretu of Salem served as master of ceremonies for the theatrical program held in the High school auditorium Sunday evening.
The auditorium was filled.

In addition to the beauty contest,
the program featured songs by the Rumanian choir from Canton, a one-act play, "Servant of the Doctor," which was presented by the Salem society, and about 20 solo numbers of both popular and Rumanian songs.

Those in the play were Nick Chi-of Education tramps back to school this week, with opening sessions scheduled for Thursday morning.

Classes at St. Paul's parochial school will get under way again next Monday morning.

Sessions at the High school and Junior High school will begin promptly after the tardy bell at 8:30 a. m. Thursday, grade schools a few minutes later.

Principal Beman G. Ludwig at the High school and Principal Loren Early at Junior High today issued last minute instructions to students as a means of expediting the organization activities Thursday morning.

There will be no classes Thursday afternoon, but a full day is planned for Friday.

Pupils may enter High school building at 8:15 a. m. Ludwig points out, but should go directly to the home room.

In the home room each pupil will receive a copy of his daily program of recitations and study halls.
After a short home room session,
the schedule of classes and study halls will be run. All pupils should be equipped with pencils.

Inasmuch as there is to be no delay in getting started and lessons are to be assigned the first day, it is especially important that everyone be on hand the first day, the principals emphasize.

If there are any pupils who expect to attend the High school who have not yet turned in a list of subjects they expect to take, they should report to the principal's office for this purpose tomorrow morning, Ludwig says.

Early at Junior High, stresses the fact that children who may have just moved into Salem and are going to attend Junior High,
will save time by registering before Thursday morning.

The freshmen will meet at 8:30
a. m. Wednesday in the High school auditorium. They will be given directions for starting school, will find out where their home rooms and class rooms are located and will be given information about many other High school procedures.

FDR, IN LABOR
DAY ADDRESS,
DEFIES AXIS

Calls for Unceasing Efforts For Defeat of Hitlerism

SCORNS PLAN FOR NEGOTIATED PEACE

Labor's Tremendous Role
In Defense Stressed
Throughout U. S.

(By Associated Press)
Led by President Roosevelt, the spokesmen of the working men and women of the United States used labor day speeches to voice uncompromising defiance of Hitlerism and to pledge unceasing efforts for its destruction.

The overtures of the war were dominant in the observance of the holiday. Whereas in bygone years labor was reminded of its gains, the messages yesterday laid their stress on the heritage labor was called on to defend and on labor's tremendous role in accelerating the flow of defense and lease-lend arms production.

Ohio Hails Accomplishments
In Ohio, labor day orators hailed a year of broad accomplishment, asserted America should sacrifice all for the defeat of Nazism, and foresaw a new year in which labor shall promote well-being.

Because of its pronouncements on international affairs, President Roosevelt's speech from Hyde Park, N. Y., home commanded major attention.

Mr. Roosevelt categorically ruled out the suggestion—advanced by several of those hostile to administration foreign policy—that he approach Hitler to seek a negotiated peace in Europe's war.

Such a role, he said scornfully, would make him "the modern Benedict Arnold," betraying everything he held dear. "This, of course, I have rejected—I reject it again."

For the Axis, the President had these words:
"I know that I speak the conscience and determination of the American people when I say that we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces."

Greater Output Needed
Mr. Roosevelt used his address to reiterate what he has emphasized before: That production still leaves much to be desired; that a greater output must be reached if the Axis is to be worsted; that all private aims and interests must be subordinated to that end.

Although the course of Europe's war imparted a special gravity to Labor day exercises, the day managed to retain its holiday character.
Transportation lines reported record traffic. Vacation resorts entertained their last big week-end crowds of the official summer season. And sports events lost none of their lure for stay-at-homes—the big league baseball games alone drew some 176,000 fans.

The somber side of the holiday weekend was the heavy death toll from motor fatalities and other misadventures. The total topped the 314 fatalities of 1940's Labor day and climbed toward the 600 mark.

broaden the income tax base by lowering personal income deductions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $200 to $750
for single individuals.

FOLLOWING UP THE KEARNY INCIDENT

Walter D. Fuller, president of National Association of Manufacturers, chose Labor day to tell members of his organization about the significance of government seizure of Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. at Kearny, N. J. It wasn't the sort of message common to the first Monday in September, but Mr. Fuller seems to have some pertinent thoughts about labor at that.

For one thing, he mentions the fact that when the properties and management of the shipbuilding company passed into government hands, 18,000 employees ceased to have certain previously guaranteed rights. As government employees they now have only privileges, and one of the privileges isn't that of calling a strike against their employer.

Government labor policy, declares Mr. Fuller, is chaotic and is being made worse by the fact the defense mediation board, which was supposed to mediate, now is able to bring about the seizure of property by recommending that action to the chief executive. He suggests that this agency, created by executive order, threatens to gather more power unto itself than any agency of government created by congress possesses.

As Mr. Fuller sees the significance of the Kearny seizure, it opens the way for abandonment of free enterprise in favor of government ownership and operation. It does this not as the result of government policy, but as the incidental consequence of a chaotic situation in labor legislation that deprives management of all rights in order to promote labor. Mr. Fuller doubts that it is labor being promoted so much as it is the brand of totalitarianism that's based on government ownership and operation of the facilities of production.

IS THE JAPANESE SABBAG MAN COMING?

Due to the fact the Japanese also hear what Prime Minister Churchill says, they undoubtedly have mulled over his recent warning about letting Germany continue to polish off its opponents one at a time.

It must be as plain to the Japanese as it is to Americans that if Germany loses the war its allies can be taken care of at will if they want to keep on fighting. It also must be plain to them that this country's first duty, therefore, is to make certain that nothing interferes with its contribution to Germany's defeat. The Japanese problem is secondary. It can be handled later, if Japan plays rough.

United States policy demands, in other words, the exhaustion of every possibility of averting war with Japan. It gives the Japanese a choice between playing Hitler's game of precipitating war in the Pacific and taking the chance of certain defeat if Germany loses, or playing the British-American game and taking the chance of Hitler's displeasure if he wins. Since it is certain that he would make no concessions to them in either case that Japan couldn't enforce, it looks as though the odds favored the British-American game. Both governments are pledged to support international trade, the freedom of the seas and the integrity of other powers—three points of vital interest to the Japanese. If something like this is running through the conversations of United States and Japanese statesmen, the conversations may mark the beginning of a revival of good faith in the conduct of international relations.

Meanwhile, Americans will bear in mind that it was Japan that started the era of diplomatic "realism" in which the end always justifies the means. One of the tricks of realism is a nice, friendly conversation just before striking the first blow.

THE DECENT THING TO DO

Once the impulse to be sarcastic is stifled, most taxpayers will agree that it was decent of the senate finance committee to come out in favor of economies in non-defense spending. It will be interesting to see the trial budgets prepared on the committee's order, cutting one billion, one and a half billions, and two billions, respectively, off non-defense expenditures.

It also would be interesting to see the congressmen's mail when the budgets are published. There will be a yelp from every owner of a foot pinched by the economy shoe. The representatives and senators will be scared stiff, and if they run true to form they won't save a single penny for fear of losing a couple of votes and maybe their jobs.

Congressmen knew, of course, that the common sense thing to do is save as much money as possible to make up for the enormous cost of defense. That's what individuals are being urged to do, and the government should act on example. But congressmen also knew that, all things being equal, the only economy their constituents are in favor of is the kind that doesn't deprive anyone of his share of federal gravy—and there isn't any economy like that. Even so, it was a nice gesture for the senate finance committee to make, and one day something might come of it.

AN ADMINISTRATIVE DETAIL

President Roosevelt's effort to develop smoothly operating machinery for dealing with defense production has produced another board. Perhaps this one will be the improvement everybody has been looking for. Theoretically, by melding previously existing authorities into one over-all authority, the President should have reduced responsibilities of friction.

Naturally, the public has no means of knowing what is wrong when the administrative machinery bogs down, nor does it have any means of hastening repair. Such things are administrative details for which the chief executive and his administration will be held answerable. Either they are handled successfully, or they are bungled. In the final accounting, they are infinitely more important than anything else that happens in Washington.

The United States can promise to become the arsenal of democracy. It can hope to sway the balance of world power. It can promise to preserve liberty by making itself so strong a champion of liberty that defeat will be impossible. These are merely words, however, unless back of them is an organization to produce results. That is what the Roosevelt administration is trying to do; certainly it is what has needed to be done.

Whether the new board is the much needed "secret weapon" no one can say. All the new boards look alike when they're created. By their performance alone may they be known. Perhaps this one will be the humdinger Mr. Roosevelt has been looking for and hasn't found yet. It has the same familiar faces on it, but maybe what they needed was to be rearranged.

CONQUEST OF DIPHTHERIA GREAT TRIUMPH

Victory Result of Immunization, Says Clendening

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The conquest of diphtheria is one of the greatest triumphs in modern medicine. It has been brought about, first, by a strictly scientific knowledge of the way immunity is acquired against it, by the perfection of a completely satisfactory method of creating immunity in any individual, and by the persistent efforts of state and city boards of health all over the country in insisting on regular immunization of school children against diphtheria.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

In spite of this, of course, there are a number of stubborn and unconverted people who are opposed to having their children protected against diphtheria. One by one they are being persuaded but the effort in persuasion must continue, as must immunization of children who are entering school for the first time.

Yearly Fight

Diphtheria must be fought back each year. In the mysterious way which contagious diseases have, it continues to exist and continues to be a menace. The immunity of a population to diphtheria is a variable factor. It changes from place to place and from generation to generation. The degree of natural immunity in any community is dependent on the number of avirulent and virulent carriers, on the type of organism present, on the number of cases of diphtheria and on the density and age of the population.

In other days we were dependent for immunity to diphtheria on the protection of natural immunity. Children playing under crowded conditions would pick up germs from each other, some of them avirulent, and almost dead diphtheria bacilli, which they were able to overcome. In the process of overcoming these, the body developed a natural resistance to diphtheria, but in this process, there were dangers of picking up virulent organisms and coming down with an active case.

Diphtheria Toxoid
The mortality of diphtheria in these days was frightful. It was the most dangerous of childhood diseases. The death rate varied from 85 to 20 per hundred thousand population. At present many cities report no deaths per year. The highest death rate in any one city in recent years was 7 per hundred thousand. The death rate varies exactly in proportion to the vigilance and universality of immunization.

We were able to imitate and improve upon nature's method of immunization in diphtheria. In the first place, by Schick test of the skin we can determine in any group of children whether they are immune to diphtheria or not—whether or they will catch it if exposed. For those who are not immune, the use of diphtheria toxoid hypodermically will produce full protection.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. O.: "Is there any explanation of why a person has one eye one color and the other another color?"

Answer: The pigment in the iris is not laid down evenly, and in any iris, if you will examine it under a good light, you will see that there are spots of different colors. In other words, it is not even. It is perfectly easy to understand that one eye should show less pigment than the other; in fact, there are very few human eyes that are perfectly matched.

PUPPET LOVE by Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.

SYNOPSIS

Surfited with society and all it represents, Christopher Allen Bishop, son of an aristocratic family, gives up his $25-a-week position in Wall Street and leaves home. In a radio contest, he loses Kane, a former C. C. C. worker, and dropping him at the latter's home-town. Christopher goes off to meet his fate in the person of a puppet show which depicts a poor girl rejecting a wealthy suitor, and learning that Nicky shares his views of the social whirl. Christopher asks her to dinner. But Nicky has an engagement in another town, so she invites Christopher to follow her in his car to a nearby village. He and she dine with her in the trailer. Over the best beef-stew he ever had, Christopher learns that Nicky's name is Nicola Rogers. She relates how, after her parents' death, she became social secretary to the Baddingtons, social climbers. (Their daughter, Eunice had chased Christopher all last season.) But society was too much for Nicky, so she decided to follow in her parents' footsteps and take to the road with the puppets. Christopher starts to tell her about himself. He fears all will be over between them when she learns his identity. He gets as far as "My name is Christopher Allen—" when a rap on the door interrupts him. A Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, old acquaintances of Nicky's, call. Learning from Curtis that Nicky has little work and is in financial straits, Christopher telephones his uncle, Edward Crofton Bishop, to enlist his aid in circularizing Chris' mother's pet charities and recommending Nicky's show. Uncle Neddy reluctantly promises to do so, although he doesn't approve of puppets.

CHAPTER TEN

But puppets, or marionettes—whatever you called them—that's what it was. Nicky had the right idea. Those dolls had more life—real life—than even Uncle Neddy and his mother. His father, Chris granted, was different—much worse really. He didn't see because he didn't want to see. He knew what life was like. Keep your eyes ahead—that was his idea—on a shining golden road.

The road over which Chris sent the car spinning was silver with the rising moon, and fragrant and cool and sweet. In a fair baritone he serenaded the moon as he drove. A few letters from Uncle Neddy and life would change for Nicky. The letter, in a two-hundred-word wire, he reflected, was a masterpiece. And he had given general delivery in Baltimore and Washington as for-

Blind-Lead-Blind

"Fuehrer—Fuehrer!" "Duce—Duce!" Excited masses crowded into public squares, hypnotized by sound and color, misled by lies and propaganda endlessly repeated.

Not for us, in America. We believe that NO fuehrer—leader—however wise, can be as wise as all of us together, calmly considering the road before us, seeing all the facts, deciding which way we shall go.

And so we let NO ONE MAN put himself beyond the critical eyes and ears of the rest of the public. We'd not be FREE if we were kept in darkness.

The British public cheered Chamberlain to the echo when he returned from Munich. But it kept its right to know how his appeasement plans came off. And kept its right to reject him when it decided HIS judgment had faltered.

The American public, patient, tolerant, softhearted though it is, clings to its right to KNOW THE FACTS.

This public says to its congressmen, its merchants, its teachers, its publishers and to all others alike: "Show me your wares. Let those who think they have better wares show them also. As long as I have the facts and the right to make my choice, I do not fear any of you.

"None of you is perfect; each has his blind spots. But with ALL of you free to see and to warn and to lead, none amongst us need be blind."

Rev. Percy Mundy heard the vows.

Preceding the ceremony, Walter Regal played the following organ selections, "Andantino in B Flat," "If All These Endearing Young Charms" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Grate Bowling Alleys, Refinished And Remodeled, To Be Opened Tonight

BRAND NEW PLANT TO GREET KEGGLERS

S. Ellsworth Ave. Alleys Rate Among Finest In Eastern Ohio

Fairly gleaming in shining, spotless, resplendent new dress, the Grate Recreation alleys, S. Ellsworth ave., are ready for the first balls to go skimming down the shining drives as the season officially gets under way tonight.

Virtually a brand new bowling plant will greet Salem and district keglers. The address is the same but the makeup is practically new. League and private bowlers hung up their shoes last May and called it a great season but E. L. Grate and his staff then really went to work and in the meantime a great change has been wrought.

Both upstairs and downstairs, the interior has been completely renewed and repainted. No drab, dingy atmosphere of the bowling alley type known to folks who followed the sport 15 or 20 years ago. Instead, there are gleaming ivory walls, spic and span from top to bottom, freshly painted and varnished floors, new knotty pine woodwork, leather upholstered seating and countless other little details—all of which could well fit into the metropolitan department store.

Alleys Refinished

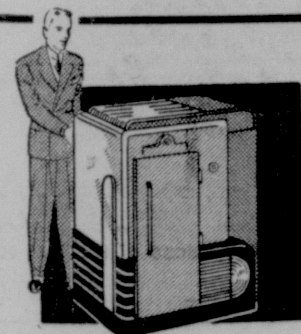

The alleys themselves, the most important part of the picture, have been completely refinished, slick and true, ready to give the keglers everything he puts on the ball. At the end of the alleys, a new curtain has been suspended—depicting a beach scene, with ocean spray, palm trees, beach umbrellas, and what not.

Directly over the runways are fluorescent lights, providing daylight lighting without the glare. Above the drives are other lights, something like "spots", with their beams directly on the pins, but, at the same time, hidden from the eyes of the bowler. As a result, the light is exactly where it should be—on the "target"—instead of in the eyes of the bowlers.

Grate's Recreation Bowling Alleys

721 SOUTH ELLSWORTH AVE. SALEM, OHIO

New, Clean, Modern — Grate Alleys Ready For Season

Here's a view toward the front section of the E. L. Grate Recreation alleys, S. Ellsworth ave., completely remodeled, showing the spacious seating arrangements for players and spectators, new individual score keeping equipment, new newell posts with automatic stops. In fact, practically the entire plant from front to rear, has been renewed.

the return troughs as a means of further contributing to the cleanliness motif. The ball, on its way back, touches only two thin strips of fiber all the way down the return trip instead of wallowing back in a dusty return trough.

New chrome newell posts and safety returns have been erected. With the installation of the safety returns, there can be no smashed fingers. The ball is automatically stopped, and permitted just enough momentum to roll into place.

Individual scorekeeping benches, done in chrome modernistic style, are ready for the first scores.

New, Comfortable Seats

A semi-circular row of leather upholstered seats, a row for each pair of drives, will seat the players in comfort. And the same degree of comfort has been provided for the spectators. The hard, wooden benches have been removed. In their stead are two rows of leather upholstered seats back of the players' seats.

As a unique feature of the new setup Grate has installed a "score keeper" for special matches. Under this arrangement, the scorekeeper writes down the figures, after each frame, on his chart in front of him and this is reproduced exactly on a miniature screen overhead, in front of the spectator and player benches. This is distinctly a new feature and is found only on first class alleys.

Other innovations include a public address system, including both the upstairs and downstairs alleys. Teams and players can be notified as to when their matches are coming up without confusion and delay. Music recordings, too, can be played through this system for the entertainment of players and spectators.

Register On Arrival

Under the public address system, players or teams simply register upon their arrival and, when playing time arrives, they are notified that their alleys are ready. Wherever they are in the building, they know immediately, and the necessity of sending messengers scurrying here and there through the crowd is eliminated.

The same remodeling program has been carried out in the downstairs alleys which are largely reserved for the public and for private parties.

The rear of the alleys, including the refreshment counter, has been dressed up in knotty pine. Soft drinks and sandwiches are served.

A new cloakroom has been installed and in it are individual lockers for teams.

Although the S. Ellsworth ave. bowling plant has been completely redone from stem to stern, Owner Grate announces there will be no increase in prices.

COMPLETE COURSE AT BEAR SCHOOL

Klein - Auto Body Men Home from Study At Factory School

Andrew Klein and Edward Falk, front end machine operators for the Klein Auto Body shop, Salem, have returned after completing a week's course of study and practical training in the factory school of the Bear Manufacturing company, Rock Island, Ill.

During their stay in Rock Island, Klein and Falk obtained complete information on the latest improved methods in properly servicing automobile chassis, front wheel end frame equipment to prevent hard steering and excessive tire wear. According to the local men, Bear school instructors emphasized that "motorists in this community may get many more miles of wear out of tires on their cars, if front wheels are lined up correctly."

The Salem men were instructed in the use of the latest, scientific Bear headlight and brake testing equipment, designed to promote highway safety.

"Because of the high rates of speed at which most cars travel today, bad steering caused by shimmy or wandering or weaving on the highways may result in serious accidents", Klein and Falk were informed.

The Bear school attended by the local men is located only a short distance from Rock Island arsenal, on an island in the Mississippi river. It is the world's largest manufacturing arsenal and at present is working top speed in the production of tanks and gun carriages for Uncle Sam's army.

Now's the Time to Prepare New Lawns

Many have been waiting for the right time to make their new lawns and to landscape. Now is the best time of the year to transplant evergreens because they will have time to make new root growth and become settled in their new locations before freezing weather.

It is also the best time to make a new lawn. Grass will make growth enough so that the roots will make a quick start next spring and growth will discourage weeds which have to start from spring sprouted seeds.

Grass, as well as evergreens, like cool weather and there are six and perhaps more weeks of growing weather for these while the shade trees and most shrubs will do better if the transplanting is done after the leaves begin to fall.

Although Cope Brothers and Fultz, Inc., nurserymen on Depot rd., are as busy as beavers right now making new lawns and transplanting many evergreens they welcome inquiries for any nursery work and they suggest plans be made early in order that they will not have to disappoint anyone.

Plymouth Dealers Hold First Showing Of Latest Models

NEWEST CARS NOT LABELED BY YEAR

Called 'Plymouth's Finest'; Wider Use of Amola Steel Cited

The Smith Garage, Althouse Motor company and Wigger's Sales and Service, Plymouth dealers here, are now holding the first public showings of the new Plymouth models. The new models are not called "1942 models," but instead are identified as "Plymouth's Finest" in introductory advertising announcing the public showings here.

The ability of the auto industry, born of continuous engineering research, to quickly adapt optional materials in place of materials required for defense—and at the same time give the public more durable, more economical and better looking cars—is strikingly demonstrated in these new Plymouth models.

One example of this application of optional materials is the wider use of Amola steel. The development of Amola—a high quality steel requiring no imported alloys—came about through years of research in Chrysler corporation laboratories.

When first introduced a few years ago on Plymouth coil springs and transmission gears, Amola proved its ability to outperform any other alloy.

Wider use of this time-tested metal—produced entirely from already developed resources in the United States—made in a number of basic advancements in Plymouth's structural design.

Low, Wide and Massive

First thing noticeable about the new Plymouth cars is how much lower they are. This wide, low, massive appearance is particularly impressive on the street.

There are two lines, the Plymouth Deluxe and Plymouth Special Deluxe. Special Deluxe models come in right body styles; the coupe three passenger; two-door sedan; four-door sedan; a club coupe with full-width rear seat and extra leg-room for six passengers; convertible coupe; a town sedan providing added custom style and individuality; and a station wagon. The first three are also available in the Plymouth Deluxe line.

This Plymouth's striking appearance of greater leanness and width is emphasized by heavy, broad fenders, long horizontal grille bars, and massive bumper design. These not only contribute added good looks to the exterior, but also extra protection.

Between bumper and grille is a broad splash guard that helps keep mud from splashing on the front of the car. Underneath the wide, heavy bumper is an aircraft-style air scoop, which adds to the high efficiency of Plymouth's cooling system.

Dealers Announce New Plymouth

Here's the first photo of the new Plymouth being presented by local dealers at introductory public showings this week. Greater lowness and width keynote this new Plymouth design, while both performance and economy are better through use of a new, thrifty 95 horsepower engine. Increased power at lower engine speeds permits a lower rear axle ratio, thereby saving on fuel. Running boards are enclosed and concealed by the wide, low-sweeping body lines—and riding comfort is further increased as the whole car is lower to the road than before. This is the Special Deluxe 4-Door Sedan.

Paris Plant Grows, With New Equipment

A visit to the plant of the Paris Cleaners on the Benton rd. would convince any skeptic that the people who know and use dry cleaning frequently also know that it pays to have this work done right by reputable operators.

The Paris Cleaners keep abreast of all modern developments in the industry and particularly the introduction of machinery which will simplify a process, thereby saving money for the customer, or which will add to the quality of the work done.

As a result, the plant has virtually doubled its space requirements in recent years, installations including a storage vault for furs and other valuable garments.

Paris customers, consequently, know that behind the work they have done there is the cumulative

Cards Lead Brooks By Half Game In Feverish National Race

SEVENTH STRAIGHT WIN BY ST. LOUIS CHANGES STANDING

Dodgers Win One, Tie One To Drop Into Second As Season Nears End

By The Associated Press Sports Writer

The same subway that goes to Ebbets Field in Brooklyn also runs to Coney Island, and there are about as many sidesteps at one stop as at the other.

But the people who have been rushing to the circus at Ebbets Field are beginning to wonder whether the main show may be in the other direction—St. Louis.

The Cardinals captured a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday with comparative ease, 5-3, and 4-3, to stretch their current winning streak to seven straight games, while the Brooklyn Dodgers had a terrible time winning a 15-inning marathon from the Boston Braves, 6-5, and then escaping with a 2-2 six-inning tie in the nightcap.

This pushed St. Louis a half game in front in the feverish National league pennant race.

The Dodgers' tie was rescheduled for today—and if Brooklyn should win with St. Louis idle the margin between the two rivals would be reduced again to 602.

Camilli Leads Brooks

Dolph Camilli carried the Dodgers to victory in the four-hour opener. He made five hits, tied the score in the eighth inning with his 20th home run, tied it again with a double in the 11th and won it with a single in the 15th. Darkness permitted only six innings of play in the afternoon and old Fred Fitzsimmons pitched two-hit ball over this distance. But short-stop Peeewe Reese had another attack of the jitters and let in two runs. The Dodgers barely were able to come from behind before the game was called.

At St. Louis Ernie White held Pittsburgh to nine hits and allowed no runs after the first inning in the opening contest. Afterward Howard Pollet, the kid sensation from the Texas league, pitched a six-hitter for his third victory and drove in two runs with a single.

Giants Win Two
In the other National league action the Giants swept a double bill from the poor Phillies, 7-2 and 4-3, and Cincinnati split with the Chicago Cubs.

Paul Derringer beat Jake Mooty in a duel in which he allowed six hits as the Reds topped Chicago, 2-1, but the Cubs came back to take the nightcap, 5-4.

The New York Yankees divided a doubleheader with the Athletics at Philadelphia and now need three more victories to clinch the American league pennant. A cluster of home runs by George Selkirk, Joe Gordon and Charley Keller boomed the Bombers to a 13-11 win in the first encounter, but Bill Beckman muffed them, 5-1, on 11 hits in the second session.

The second-place Boston Red Sox raided the Washington Senators twice, 13-9 and 10-2.

The Chicago White Sox whipped the bruised and tottering Cleveland Indians twice, 7-5, and 4-3, and the Detroit Tigers tore the St. Louis Browns apart 9-5 and 16-8.

'Odious V' Victor In Young Bird Flight

Odious V, of the Otis Brian loft, was the winner of the fall season's first young bird race of the Salem Pigeon club, flown Sunday from Millersburg, O.

Sears, Jr., flying to the loft of William Sprout, was second, and Alapeka III, from the loft of C. W. Cozad, third.

Aided by a brisk tailwind, the youngsters made excellent time in their first race. They were liberated at 7:17 a. m. and the winner was clocked at 8:35, flying the air-line distance of 61 miles in one hour 18 minutes, for a speed of 1,367.70 yards a minute, or almost 50 miles an hour.

The next race is from Mt. Vernon, the 100-mile station. Birds will be counter-marked next Saturday evening for Sunday liberation.

Results of Sunday's race follow:

Placentia Lakers Win Three Contests

Lake Placentia chalked up three wins in three games for a perfect Labor day week-end.

On Sunday the Lakers met and walloped the Carrollton Merchants, 15-3, with Maley pitching four-hit ball. Smith sparked the Lake attack as he poled out a home run.

On Labor day the Lakers won a double header from the colored Cleveland White Sox, 6-5, and 4-1. Metzger was the winning pitcher in the first game.

Phillippi and Schwartzhoff each rapped out a double to lead Placentia to a win in the second game as Schopfer issued six hits.

TRIBE FINISHES HOME STAND IN FOURTH POSITION

Win Only Six of 17 Games Before Home Fans; Play Only 4 More There

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—The Indians, who dropped into fourth place two weeks ago when they opened a long home stay, headed into a long road trip today in the same spot.

They won six of their 17 games during the visit with the home fans, and will play only four more local contests during the rest of the season, three weeks from now. After an exhibition contest at Zanesville tonight, they rest Wednesday before tackling the Tigers Thursday in Detroit.

Yesterday the Tribe had a chance to grab third, or even second place as it entered a doubleheader only one game behind the White Sox and one and a half lengths behind Boston. But the White Sox administered a 7 to 5 defeat in the first half and then took a 12-inning afterpiece, 4 to 3.

Lee Scores 18th

Thornton (Lefty) Lee, erstwhile Indian, got his 18th victory in the first game, although he allowed Cleveland 13 hits. Jim Bagby was the loser.

The nightcap went to extra innings when an error by Lou Boudreau let Ben Chapman get to third, after which he scored the tying run on a fly by Dario Lodigiani. In the 12th, Al Milnar walked Taft Wright, Luke Appling singled and Lodigiani sacrificed. Steve Gromek relieved Milnar, walked Solters to fill the bases, Turner hitting a long fly which sent home the winning run. Johnny Rigney was the winning pitcher.

Breezy Briefs
Of Sport From
Brietz To You

By GUS EDSON
By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Finch Hitting for Eddie Brietz).
NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Dolph Camilli likely won't win the pennant for the Dodgers single-handed, but after what he did during the past couple days, he probably could be elected mayor of Flatbush by a unanimous vote. . . . Since he quit swinging for homers or nothing, he's really begun to plaster them when they count. . . . And for that matter, Master Melvin Ott hasn't been doing badly for a guy who was supposed to be practically washed up before the season started. . . . With the Yanks about to clinch the pennant any day, there seems to be some merit in the suggestion of Jimmie Murphy of the Canton (Ill.) Ledger that they should be dropped from the league and replaced by a team that would give the other clubs a chance. Jimmie would then have Joe McCarthy's boys play the National League champs in the World Series as a sort of American league pennant winner emeritus.

Dave Cammer, New York World-Telegram: "Frank Leahy has learned that being head coach at Notre Dame entails the requisites of a salesman, i. e., you must be a man of vision, ambition, unlimited endurance, an after-dinner speaker before and after dinner, sales promotion expert, a man's man, ladies' man, model husband, fatherly father, plutocrat, democrat, traveler, liar, golfer, plus an authority on palmistry, chemistry, psychology, and you take it from there."

Coming Events
Next big item on the sports program is Eastern All-Stars vs. New York Giants tomorrow night at the Polo grounds, and Stout Steve Owen gave a tip-off on what's likely to happen to the All-Stars when he

Sports Cocktail
Fred Apostoli gives the heavy credit for giving him a "new grip on life" and he thinks he'll be back fighting the top-rank middleweights by mid-winter. . . . The burghers of Washington (Pa.) would like to see their native son, Sammy Angott, in action but figure they can't line up a first-class lightweight to fight him there. It's hard enough to get a good one for him in Pittsburgh.

One Dollar Hound Wins Prize of $500
KENTON, Sept. 2.—A mixed black and tan dog which cost Raymond Stungles of Wilmington, O., a dollar as a three-month-old pup, is the champion coonhound of North America.

The dog, named "Ham," won the title plus $500 and a loving cup for Stungles at final runs in the Leafy Oak field trials yesterday. "Ham" also took first tree and second line prizes.

"Ohio Prince Eight," owned by Roy Metz of Mansfield, also won $500. He was named line champion, took the tree trial in opening events Sunday, and captured three heats yesterday.

LABOR DAY CROWDS SET BETTING MARK
CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—A Labor day crowd of nearly 22,000 wagered $293,611 at the pari-mutuel windows at Thistledowns, establishing what was believed to be a new high for Ohio betting on running races.

MEET YOUR COLLEGE "ROOMMATES" ...BATES BEDSPREADS WITH MATCHING DRAPERIES

They're bright... they're smooth... they can take it! Ideally suited to a campus life because they do not wrinkle, neither sun nor water will fade their colors and they wash like a dream even in college laundries. Bates bedspreads with matching pinch-pleat draperies (ready to hang) are practically a campus "must."

BATES "SIESTA." Whimsical and gay is this colorful commentary on the Latin way of life, an overwhelming favorite in the college poll conducted by Bates. The fabric is homespun with bright colored banding simulating the needlework that has long been associated with Latin America. Choice of four color combinations: Red, Blue, Black on homespun—Rust, Brown on homespun—Green, Rust, Brown on homespun—Blue, Green, Blue on homespun.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

H. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

IT'S GRAND CHAMPION COWBOY PAUL CARNEY. At Cheyenne, Tucson, Pendleton—on sun-fishin' saddlers... barbarous bareback brones—this lean, leathery Arizona tophand outperformed 'em all. He tells you this about cigarettes: "Less nicotine in the smoke means just that much more mildness to me. I'm glad I switched to Camels."

Yes, by actual comparison (see right, above) less nicotine in the smoke than any of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested. Less nicotine in the smoke—freedom from the irritating qualities of excess heat—extra mildness. Switch to the slower-burning cigarette of costlier tobaccos now!
